HANNAH LAGUDAH

To say that dancing is in Hannah's blood, is an understatement. She has trained with teachers from leading institutions including WAAPA and Sydney Dance Company in Australia, as well as Edge Performing Arts and Millennium Dance Studios in LA.

Hannah has also taken screen acting classes at NIDA, with Sarah Grenfell, and Screenwise, with Drayton Morley.

She was recently a presenter for High Resolves, a non-profit educational program designed to help young people bring about positive social change.

Hannah is a lead dancer at Gdance Academy, where she has participated in numerous productions, including Peter Pan, Nutcracker and Don Quixote. She was also fortunate to be included in the group's Disneyland and Universal showcases in California.

When not focusing on her performance career, Hannah loves cake decorating, long distance running, Muay Thai and creating her own garments. She is also enjoying her business studies (Bachelor of Commerce) at Melbourne University.
